

Set up the Super Admin

This runs once. The account you create here owns the system, cannot be altered by anyone else, and creates the Admin who builds the rest of the team.

Your account is ready. Setup is now permanently closed.

Your ten recovery codes

This is the only time these are ever shown. Only their hashes are stored, so nobody — including this system — can show them to you again. Print them and keep them somewhere physical, not on the device you sign in with.

Each code works once. They are what get you back in if you lose both your password and your phone — the Super Admin cannot be reset by anybody else, which is the point of the role and also the risk it creates.
